All of last night a swinging light was seen in the woods, and several vain attempts in the woods, and several vain attempts were made to send a rescuing party initiar. The light was a signal of distress from a settler, who was lost. It was learned this morning, by looking inrough a field glass, that he had been on top of a hay stack since the rising of the waters, swinging a lantern in the hope of calling help. Two restning parties were sent out this morning and have found several families on the roofs of houses. The field glass is being used with good results, as numerous settlers have been discovered. Some persons are on trees and others on floating timbers. Today a snowstorm prevails. The current over the new-made channel is running over ten miles per hour and the drift he shoots along at greet speed. A large bear was seen on a cake of ice talls morning. Mendan is

New York, March 19.-Incoming steamers report passing a large number of icebergs and an immense field of ice. They state that the ice extends much farther south than usual. It is thought that the racing yachts may be delayed on this account. The winds have so far been favorable, and if the ice does not prevent it is thought that the racers may reach Queenstown about the latter part of next week.

There are some indications that they may succeed in digging their pile a little deeper. The matter as it now stands is simply an andacious speculation of a young man, whose character is such that the Sock Exchange has refused to allow him a represent ton upon its board. The amount involved in transferring the control of the Bal imere & Ohio Company is large and the position and properly are so hampered for the moment that only the most powerful and influential interests in both financial and railroad affairs are equal to the task, and it looks very much as if Mr. Garrett might follow the market down until he finds buyers who can pay for what they buy.
